

17th Annual Summer Public Health Research Videoconference on Minority Health

Marilyn Aguirre-Molina, EdD, MS

Professor of Public Health, CUNY School of Public Health
Executive Director, CUNY Institute for Health Equity

Tues, June 7, 2011 1:30-4:00

Tate-Turner-Kuralt Auditorium

UNC School of Social Work

Marilyn Aguirre-Molina is Professor of Public Health, at the City University of New York - School of Public Health, where she teaches health equity and social justice, and leadership for public health in the master of public health and doctoral programs. In addition to teaching responsibilities, she is the Founding Executive Director of the CUNY Institute for Health Equity (CIHE). The focus of Dr. Aguirre-Molina's work at the CIHE is on applied research and policy development that address the social determinants of health among underserved populations.

Visit www.minority.unc.edu for more information